

FOR FREEDOM

A composite image featuring a mountain landscape with a sword and a statue. The background is a scenic view of a mountain range with a forested valley. A sword is positioned diagonally across the upper right portion of the image. In the lower left, a statue of a muscular figure stands on a paved path next to a stone wall with relief carvings.

Feet planted firmly here on revelation road

Letting go of the lies that i've been told

As lying street signs tempt me to wonder

How it is that I bought the lies you sold

Only to find within me a voice like thunder

Feet planted firmly here on revelation road

Letting go of the lies that i've been told

As lying street signs tempt me to wonder

How it is that I bought the lies you sold

Only to find within me a voice like thunder

Now my heart has been torn asunder

Split right down the middle by a double edged sword

Holding it in my hands I raise it to the Lord

Forward, steady and strong my feet carry me

Far from the land of chains into a place called free

Oh, how I long to wage war against hell itself

To tear down its gates and ride the winds of victory

In the whirlwind of this world's tyranny

I find that I am safe within the eye of the storm

Should winter come and chill me once again

I know that inside there is a place kept warm

Where angels sing over me and my father erases this sin

Where strength rises to defy the gravity of my mistakes

And my journey towards freedom does begin

For I have drank deep the liquid lies of devious lakes

To thirst once more and to give in to an urge to take

To take and take but never give

Now I rise for the sake of the life I was meant to live

See to receive the truth we must embrace the pain

We must wade the waters of chaos to understand the rain

So I reach for clarity in faith that it will remain

I sing a song of hope until my dying day

Because there is a light that will never fade

And this light shall guide my way

Come whatever may, I will stay, I will stay

In peril and in danger I am fearless before my enemies

For the lies they would have me believe are breaking down around me

And so now I know who it is that has set me free

My eyes have been opened and I can see

That it is for freedom that I have been set free
